SECURITY ADVICE

Off the slopes, natural mountain hazards are not marked and avalanches can occur. You do so at your own risk.

This activity requires a good technical level, a good knowledge of the mountain and the right equipment.

Get informed

Take note of the avalanche flag and the weather reports posted at the most frequented points in the resort. If necessary, ask the first aiders and mountain professionals.

Call in the professionals

If you want to go off-piste. In any case, never leave alone, indicate your route and your expected time of return.

Be traceable

Equip yourself with an avalanche transceiver device (ATD), which should be worn under the outer layer of clothing. It should be carried under your outer layer and is a must for your backpack along with your shovel and probe. It is essential to test your avalanche transceiver before any outing and to train regularly in its use. Also carry at least one passive reflector.

These accessories are available in sports shops.

SET OUT ON THE TRAIL

of the stone masons...

SAMOËNS, a rich heritage of historical and cultural treasures

Samoëns is an excellent winter sports resort, but it is also appreciated for its special atmosphere and the change of scenery offered by its friendly village. The gentle way of life in Samoëns is ideal for recharging your batteries and getting your energy back.

THE HISTORIC BIRTHPLACE OF THE STONECUTTERS

with a grenette, a registered church,
9 chapels, more than 30 sculptures

A village with a bourgeois feel, Samoëns has preserved a rich heritage of historical and cultural treasures. As you wander through its picturesque streets, the village reveals its unique history as the home of stonecutters. The resort is historically the cradle of the stone cutters called «Frahans» who made its international reputation. In the 17th century, their skills were used on the largest building sites of Vauban and Napoleon Bonaparte. Even today, the streets of Samoëns bear witness to its past with old stone (not wooden) houses. For a thousand years, the village has remained an attractive and friendly place, where cultural and natural heritage have been preserved. Samoëns has retained the charm of the Alpine villages. An authenticity which, combined with the «French art of living», gives rise to the unique «bien vivre septimontain».
